MONTEREY, VA., JULY 18, 1919

Mr. Stephenson's letter into-day's issue will be read with satisfaction by Highlanders. Our people want to know that their representatives, State and County, are alert at a time when much may be lost or gain by vigilance and prompt action.

The S. & P. pike ranks first among even the preferred roads, and so it should. It is not only inter-state, but it is the county's outlet and inlet, and the aim should be to hasten construction rather than rest on the assurance that it will be done some day.

Editor Highland Recorder:

In a brief way we will give you some of our experiences with the Alleghany mountain disease bloody menan, or more correct, the Hemorrhagic Septicemia germ that caused many losses last summer and fall. This disease is showing itself early this season, a three year old steer having died here on Friday, the 11th. Our diagnosis was correct as confirmed by a blood test made by Dr. Stover, who has a high power microscope, a highly valuable instrument for any M. D. or D. V.—a diagnosis from symptoms may prove something else under the microscope.

The period of incubation is from one-half day to several days. Pale-ness of the lining of mouth and nose, difficult breathing, blood running from nose or in manure, head up and nose pointed straight out, slow wab-ly gait are some of the most com-mon symptoms of the disease. Dead animals should be burned and lime, and disinfectants used freely, as dis-ease is very contagious.

By vaccinating cattle, (sheep and hogs and poultry also subject to same disease) with Hemorrhagic Sep-ticemia Bacteria, the disease can both be prevented and cured. It is possible to save the life of an animal that is almost dead using the proper vaccine or serum. This was dem-onstrated here on a heifer last sea-son, she improved and wintered up well.

Tuesday, the 15th we vaccinated 77 head of steers, cows, and calves. After loosing steers, having had no fresh vaccine and not looking for disease to appear this season, we at once gave each steer one-half pound Epsom Salts in quart of warm water. The effect of this was very noticea-ble in improvement of cattle in three days' time. Better give one pound salts in quart or more of water to re-tard disease until vaccine can be se-cured. But don't think that the salts will produce a cure. Cattle are too valuable to run such a risk and the cost of vaccine is little com-pared to cost of animal.

By vaccinating animals before tak-ing to range or those on range now, you get the same results as those from the use of Blackleg vaccine.

We will be glad to answer any questions we can, relative to this disease and if we cannot render any other service to Highland people than help combat this disease, our time and expensive experience will not have been spent in vain.

We feel that it is our duty to warn our people about this disease, and do all in our power to prevent losses of not only our own but others.

Two sheep have been known to die of this disease on Allegheny moun-tain this month.

Our experience at V. P. I. along with it at home, qualified us to vac-cinate our own cattle. We would not be permitted to charge for our services without a permit from the State Veterinarian, so we write this for no personal gain other than that you profit by our experience.

Yours truly,
R. H. CRUMMETT
P.S.—Questions if any, should be brief, accompanied by stamped en-velope.

Looking After Highland

Warm Springs, Va.
July 14, 1919
To the Highland Recorder,
Monterey, Va.

I see in your issue of last week that you have heard "a rumor" of diverting the national aid from the Staunton and Parkersburg Turnpike to the Harrisonburg and Warm Springs route.

This is news to me and the first time I have heard the subject men-tioned. I appeared in Richmond with the members of the Board of Supervisors of Highland county to advocate the S. & P. Route and ex-plain to Mr. G. P. Coleman, State Highway Commissioner, the impor-tance of this route to the people of Highland county and at that time he seemed to fully understand it. I af-terwards talked to him several times in reference to this road and he as-sured me that he had ordered the survey to be made and expected work to commence in the western part of Augusta county at once. I cannot think there can be a contemplated change in this route.

Just last week in a report submit-ted by the good roads committee to the Governor of Virginia, the S. & P. route is laid down in class "A" and this report will be submitted to the Extra Session of the Legislature which meets on August the 13th, 1919 and I can assure the people of Highland that I will look after their interests in this route and see that no change is made.

I am writing to Mr. Coleman in reference to any change in this route today and will be glad if you will keep me posted of any information that you may have on this subject.

Very truly,
JOHN W. STEPHENSON

Instead of criticising the road man all the time, pick a few rocks in front of your property or take a shovel and fill up an ugly "thank-you-marm."

What has become of the old game of marbles, a game in which one could knock dubs, roll fat and take roundens?

In spite of the big jolt given au-tocracy, it still rains—not less than four days out of the week.

Are the Dogs Mad?

Due to carelessness, or an over-sight on the part of almanac and cal-endar makers for the year 1919, there is nothing to show that "every dog has his day," or that there is a period in mid-summer known as Dog Days.

It is a matter that concerns not only the dogs themselves, but dog-owners—in fact, the entire credulous pub-lic—because, it is raining too much, and if dog days are on, they are to blame and no let-up can be expected until the period ends.

But the chief injustice and slight is to the dog himself, and a general howl may be heard when he finds out that the Hagerstown crowd et al have denied him his place in the al-manac. All respectable dogs have been required to wear a tag as evi-dence of their importance and tax-able value—all slackers and dodgers to be shot—yet after all this consid-eration and ado, when too late to re-fer the matter to the Peace Confer-ence, without any hearing, with no apology or explanation, the dog finds his "day" unceremoniously drop-ped. It is a howling shame, so far as Old Rover is concerned, and, as to his master, all he knows is that it is more or less "Sirious."

Land High
Nampa, Ida., July 9, 1919
Editor Recorder:
Monterey, Va.

Dear Sir:—Please change my ad-dress from Twin Falls, Ida. to Nampa Ida., we sold our place at Twin Falls for $325 per acre, and bought here for $300 per acre; land is high here. Good land close to town sells as high as $800 and $900 per acre.

Our second crop of alfalfa is about ready to cut, has been just about a month since we cut the first crop. Can get four crops of alfalfa hay here a year.

Wheat is looking fine, some are talking of 60 bu per acre. We are going into the dairy busi-ness here. Expect to put in a milk-ing machine soon and stop the hand milking.

There is a big milk condensery at Nampa, and they are paying $3.00 per hundred for whole milk.

Best regards to you all.
Very truly,
B. K. PRICE

War-Time Prohibition

War-time prohibition will be en-forced with all the machinery at the command of the Department of Jus-tice, Attorney-General Palmer has an-nounced. He issued a statement out-lining a clear-cut policy of prosecu-tion for violators of the law and so-liciting the assistance of both State and municipal authorities in enforce-ment of the act. The future of two-and-three-fourths per cent beer is yet to be decided, Mr. Palmer said, but until the courts rule sufficiently to permit him to decide whether or not it is, prosecuting action will be taken against beer-drinkers or beer-makers for making or drinking beer with that amount of alcohol.

War-time prohibition must con-tinue in effect until all the treaties shall have been ratified, the formal report of the House Judiciary Com-mittee on the Prohibition, Enforce-ment bill submitted declared.

Another group of institutions in which the juvenile "spills the beans" is that wherein the misuse of an ex-pression of his elders leads to disas-trous results. Take for example lit-tle Johnny going up to Uncle and asking him:

"Uncle, can you make a noise like a frog?"
"No, yhw?" ask uncle.
"Why, pa says when you croak we will get ten thousand dollars."—Ex-change.
